... nose exercises are a great way to relax and stimulate our dogs' minds. Why do we insist on "winding them up" physically so that they . can rest? First, blowing or puffing out the nose can stimulate the dog's mind, thus allowing the dog to relax, de-stress and be at peace with himself. Second, blowing causes the nose to clear, which improves his sinuses and lungs. This helps prevent diseases that cause nasal infections. Third, it helps stimulate the lungs by stimulating
